

INTERNSHIP APPLICATION

Internship Program Description:

The Currier Internship Program is designed to help students (high school, undergraduate, and graduate) develop the skills necessary for working in a cultural institution. Internships provide students with a broad range of experiences and are appropriate for those studying art history, museum studies, education, marketing, fundraising, or related fields to explore potential career paths. Students are encouraged to view the internship as an exchange of professional ideas between the museum and intern.

All internships include a rigorous mentoring program with the goal of helping students develop their professional identity. Internships are granted for educational credit only.
