Varujan Boghosian is an American artist, best known for his sculptures, assemblages and collages. He incorporates found objects in much of his work and often puts unlikely objects together. His work often has a dream-like and playful quality to it. Boghosian draws inspiration from universal themes such as love, death, loss, fear, and joy.

Activity: Magazine Collage

Materials:
- Magazines or fliers
- Scissors
- Paper
- Glue stick
- Drawing materials such as crayons, pencils, markers, colored pencils, paint

Directions:
1. Cut an image or shape out of a magazine that you think will inspire your child.
2. Glue image to piece of paper.
3. Provide your child with drawing materials and invite them to create the rest of the image

Tips/options:
- Don’t overthink the image. You will be amazed at what someone will add to it.
- Make it a family affair and ask someone to create a prompt for you.
