Restore the Chandler House

“Chandler House was saved by the community and it is our intention to make it accessible and enjoyable to everyone.

The Chandler House has some of the finest 19th-century interiors in our area. However, the exterior and its support spaces need careful attention. The last few months have revealed many of the house’s historical secrets – and we need your advice and support to restore it. Please consider making a gift today.”

The Currier Museum of Art is restoring the George Byron Chandler House, an architectural treasure from the late 19th century that sits across the street from the museum. The main floor of the house preserves impressive stained glass windows, original wallpaper, and fine wood carving. These areas will be open to the public as an expansion of the museum, specifically to represent New Hampshire in the 19th century. We need your help to renovate this beautiful home to its original glory. The Currier Museum of Art aims to raise over $2 million dollars in order to support the work ahead, and also develop an endowment for future upkeep and maintenance, public access, outreach, and education programs. Help us save this historically and architecturally significant building for generations to come by making your gift today.
